

Contents

1	Biomedical Instruments and the Measurement of Physiological Events	1
	Introduction	1
	Automatic (Servo) Control Devices	2
	Automatic Implanted Therapeutic Devices	4
	Transducers and the Measurement of Physiological Events	5
	Transducible Properties and the Principle of Transduction	5
	Calibration and Standardization	8
	Calibration	8
	Standardization	9
	Summary	9
	References	10
2	Resistive Transducers	11
	Introduction	11
	Thermoresistors	11
	Thermistor	13
	Biomedical Applications	15
	Metallic Strain Gauges	20
	Biomedical Applications	25
	Catheter-Type Transducers	26
	Catheter-Tip Transducers	32
	Blood Pressure Waveforms	33
	Potentiometer Transducers	34
	Magneto-resistive Transducers	37
	The Hall Effect	39
	Granular Strain Gauges	42

Elastic Resistors 43

- Biomedical Applications 44
- Electrolytic Strain Gauges 44
- Mercury Strain Gauges 45
- Biomedical Applications 46

Humidity-Sensitive Resistors 49

- Biomedical Applications 52

Photoresistors 55

References 55

3 Inductive Transducers

60

Single Inductors 60

- Biomedical Applications 61

Mutual Inductance 62

- Biomedical Applications 63

Linear Variable Differential Transformers 64

- Biomedical Applications 66

Rotary Variable Differential Transformers 67

Electromagnetic Flowmeters 68

- Sine Wave Flowmeters 71
- Square Wave Flowmeters 73
- The Trapezoidal Wave Flowmeters 75
- Commercially Available Electromagnetic Flowmeters 76

Magnetorheography 80

Magnetostrictive Tissue Fragmenter 82

References 84

4 Capacitive Transducers

87

Simple Capacitors 87

Capacitor Configurations 87

Capacitance-Measuring Circuits 88

- Series Circuit 88
- Bridge Circuit 89
- Resonant Circuit 90
- Diode Twin-T Circuit 90

Biomedical Applications 92

Biological Capacitors 100

Characteristics of Capacitive Transducers 102

References 103

5 Photoelectric Transducers 105

Introduction 105

Photoemissive Tubes 105

Photomultiplier Phototube 110

Scintillation Counter 111

Photovoltaic and Junction Diodes 112

Photoconductive Cells 115

The Phototransistor 119

Comparison of Photoelectric Transducers 120

Colorimetric (Spectrophotometric) Applications 122

    Cardiac Output 122

    Oximetry 124

Whole-Blood Oximetry 128

Tissue-Bed Oximeter 130

Multiwavelength Transmission Oximeter 134

Reflectance Tissue-Bed Oximeter 136

Characteristics of Tissue-Bed Oximeters 137

Operating Range of Oximeters 137

    Jaundice Meter 137

Thermography 140

    Principle 140

    The Thermograph 141

    Scanning Methods 141

    Temperature Calibration 143

    Physiological Basis for Thermography 144

    Clinical Applications 145

Body Temperature 148

Noncolorimetric Applications 150

References 157

6 Piezoelectric Devices 161

Piezoelectric Devices 161

    Piezoelectric Detectors 165

Accelerometers 167

    Piezoelectric Reproducers 170

Properties of Ultrasound	170
Velocity	171
Attenuation	172
Interactions at Boundaries	173
Doppler Frequency Shift	177
Generation of Ultrasound	178
Pulse-Echo Techniques	180
Pulse-Echo Display Modes	180
A-Scan Method	180
B-Scan Method	182
M-Mode Method	182
Resolution	183
Applications of Ultrasound	184
Blood Flowmeters	184
Direct Arterial Flowmeters	184
Transcutaneous Flowmeter	187
Characteristics of Doppler Flowmeters	188
Pulse-Echo Applications	189
Echoencephalography	189
Ophthalmology	191
M-Mode Echocardiography	193
Intravascular Applications	197
Two-Dimensional Imaging	199
Tomography	201
Linear-Array Imaging	204
Dynamic Imaging	205
Sector Scanners	205
Intraesophageal Imaging	207
Phased-Array Imaging	208
References	209

7 Thermoelectric Devices

Thermoelectricity	214
Biomedical Applications	217
Nuclear Power Supplies	218

Peltier Effect 219

Biomedical Applications 221

References 221

8 Chemical Transducers

223

Introduction 223

Blood Gases 223

Dalton's Law 224

Henry's Law 224

The  $pO_2$  of Blood 226

Reference Electrodes 227

Calomel Electrode 227

Silver-Silver Chloride Electrode 228

The  $pO_2$  Electrode 229

Membrane Electrodes 235

The pH Electrode 236

The  $pCO_2$  Electrode 240

Blood-Gas Analysis 244

Acid-Base Balance 244

The Henderson-Hasselbalch Equation 245

Transcutaneous  $pO_2$  Transducers 246

Transcutaneous  $pCO_2$  Transducers 249

Fiber-Optic Chemical Transducers 250

Hydrogen Ion Concentration (pH) 250

Carbon Dioxide Partial Pressure ( $pCO_2$ ) 252

Oxygen Partial Pressure ( $pO_2$ ) 252

Characteristics of Fiber-Optic Transducers 253

Ion-Specific Electrodes 253

Introduction 253

Ion-Selective Membranes 254

Sodium Ion Electrode 255

Calcium Ion Electrode 255

Sulfide Ion Electrode 256

Fluoride Ion Electrode 257

Ionic Content of Blood 258

Continuous Monitoring of Blood Chemistry 258

Field-Effect Transistor Chemosensors	260
Glucose Electrodes	266
Diabetes	267
Glucose Tolerance Test	267
Enzyme Electrode	267
Closed-Loop Glucose Control	273
Colorimeters and Spectrophotometers	274
The Beer-Lambert Law	274
Use of Colorimeters and Spectrophotometers	277
Flame Photometer	280
Respiratory Gases	282
Introduction	282
Lung Volumes	282
Measurement of Lung Volumes	284
Frequency Response of Spirometers	285
Standardization of Volume	287
Oxygen Uptake and Concentration	288
Paramagnetic Oxygen Analyzer	288
Electrochemical Oxygen Analyzer	291
Ultraviolet Absorption Oxygen Analyzer	292
Fuel-Cell Oxygen Analyzer	293
The Lex-O <sub>2</sub> -Con Analyzer	294
Gaseous Carbon Dioxide Analyzers	295
Absorption Types	297
Thermal Conductivity Types	300
Critical-Orifice Analyzer	300
The Nitrogen Analyzer	301
The Nitrogen-Washout Technique	302
Mass Spectrometer	304
Velocity-of-Sound Analyzer	307
References	309

9 Electrodes

Introduction	315
Electrode-Electrolyte Interface	315
Electrode Potential	316
Electrode Potential Stability	318

Chlorided Silver Electrodes	322
Potential of a Silver-Silver Chloride Electrode	324
Electrode Impedance	325
Electrode Capacitance and Resistance	326
Current-Density Considerations	332
Improved Model for the Electrode-Electrolyte Interface	337
Electrodes on a Subject	339
Impedance of Chlorided Silver Electrodes	339
The Platinized Platinum (Platinum Black) Electrode	346
Electrodes for Measuring Bioelectric Events	348
Amplifier Input Impedance	349
Plate and Disk Electrodes	351
Recessed Electrodes	354
Conducting-Adhesive Electrodes	356
Radiotransparent Electrodes	357
Low-Mass Electrodes	357
Dry Electrodes	357
Active Cables for Dry Electrodes	362
Electrodeposited Electrodes	364
Spray-on Electrodes	366
Electrode Electrolytes	367
Tissue Response to Electrolytes	368
Artifact Reduction by Skin Abrasion	370
Capacitive Electrodes	373
Electrodes for Exposed Tissue	376
Percutaneous Electrodes	377
Collar-Button Electrodes	377
Depth Electrodes	379
Needle Electrodes	379
Cutting Electrodes	385
Hypodermic Needle Electrodes	385
Tissue Response to Implanted Electrode Metals	386
Waveform Distortion due to Input Impedance of the Bioelectric Recorder	387
Microelectrodes	395
Mechanical Sharpening	395
Electropointing	395
Insulating Metal Microelectrodes	397

Heat-Pulled Metal Microelectrodes	398
Electrodeposited Metal-Filled Micropipet	399
Vapor-Deposited Metal-Film Microelectrode	400
Integrated Circuit Fabrication Technique	400
Measurement of the Exposed Area of Metal Microelectrodes	401
Electrical Properties of Metal Microelectrodes	402

Impedance 402

Equivalent Circuit 405

Electrolyte-Filled Micropipet	410
The Floating Micropipet	413
Filling Micropipets	413
Electrolytes for Micropipets	416
Measurement of Resting Membrane Potential	417
Equivalent Circuit	420
Measurement of Tip Resistance and Capacitance	423
Tip Resistance	424
Constant-Voltage Method	424
Constant-Current Method	425
Tip Capacitance	425
Negative-Capacity (Positive-Feedback) Compensation	426
Comparison of Metal Microelectrodes and Micropipets	429
Stimulating Electrodes	430
Electrode Current-Density Distribution	432
Implications of Electrode-Subject Impedance for Stimulation	432
Electrolysis and Arcing	438
Rectification	440
References	444

10 Stimulators and Stimulation

453

Introduction 453

Stimulation 453

    Empirical Strength-Duration Curve 453

    Analytical Strength-Duration Curve 458

    Comparison of Empirical and Analytically Derived Strength-Duration Curves 463

    Accommodation 464

Stimulation of Deep-Lying Tissue 464

Case 1:  $\tau_2$  Larger Than  $\tau_1$  466*Case 2:  $\tau_2$  Less Than  $\tau_1$*  467*Summary* 467

Waveform Considerations 467

Monopolar and Bipolar Stimulation 469

Cathodal and Anodal Stimulation 470

Stimulation with Repetitive Pulses 470

Stimulation with Sinusoidal Current 471

Perception Threshold and Tolerance to Sinusoidal Current 473

The Effects of Sinusoidal Current Passing through the Thorax 475

Ventricular Fibrillation 477*Leakage Current* 482*Catheter-Borne Current* 483

Legal Electrocutation 485

Painful Stimulation 486

Practical Applications of Stimulation 491

Skeletal Muscle Stimulation 491

Motor-Point Stimulation 494

Stimulus Parameters 496

Functional Electrical Stimulation 497

Drop Foot 498*Leg Bracing* 498*Hand and Finger Motion* 499

Programmed Neuromuscular Stimulation 500

Cardiac Pacing 501

Direct Heart Pacing 501*Closed Chest Pacing* 502

Ventricular Defibrillation 506

Defibrillating Current Waveforms 507*Stored versus Delivered Energy* 509

Defibrillator Circuits 510

Damped Sine Wave Defibrillator 510*Trapezoidal Wave Defibrillator* 512

Transcutaneous Electrical Nerve Stimulation (TENS) 513

Electrode Placement 514

Stimulating Current 514

Reciprocal-Pulse Stimulation 516

Training Collar 517

Stimulator Output Circuits 518

Constant-Voltage Circuit 518

Constant-Current Circuit 519

Isolated Output Circuit 521

Electrodeless Stimulation 522

Stimulation with Capacitive Electrodes 528

References 531

11 Detection of Physiological Events by Impedance

537

Introduction 537

Safety Considerations 538

Impedance-Measuring Circuits 539

Bridge Circuit 540

Bipolar Constant-Current Circuit 541

Tetrapolar Circuit 542

Resistive and Reactive Components 543

Current-Density Distribution 545

Tissue Resistivity 545

Blood Resistivity 546

Sedimentation Rate 548

Hematocrit Meter 549

Resistivity of Flowing Blood 550

Noninvasive Measurement of Packed-Cell Volume 552

Resistivity Matching 554

Electrode Systems 555

Guard-Electrode Technique 555

Electrodeless Impedance Measurements 557

Impedance of Living Tissue 559

Seasonal Variations in Impedance 563

Endocrine Activity 563

Blood Volume Changes 564

Intrathoracic Fluid	565
Respiration	566
Choice of Frequency	567
Impedance-Volume Relations	569
Capacitive Component	573
Guard-Ring Technique	574
Origin of the Impedance Pneumogram	574
Esophageal Impedance Pneumogram	575
Characteristics of Impedance Pneumography	575
Blood Flow	576
Indicator-Dilution Method	576
Saline Indicator Method	578
The Forbidden Indicator	583
Verification Studies	584
Flow-Through Cell Technique	585
Removal of Recirculation Error	587
Ventricular Emptying	589
Stroke Volume by Direct Impedance Cardiography	591
The Pressure-Volume ( PV ) Loop	594
Impedance Plethysmography	594
Impedance Cardiography	600
Verification Studies	605
Computer Averaging of the $dZ/dt$ Waveform	607
Systolic Time Intervals	607
Genesis of the Impedance Cardiogram	609
Precordial Dilution Curve	611
Impedance Plethysmography of the Extremities	613
Venous-Occlusion Plethysmography	613
Impedance Plethysmography	615
Impedance Phlebography	619
Cardiorespiratory Monitoring	621
Rheoencephalography	623
Bladder Volume	629
Kidney Volume	632
Uterine Contractions	633
Nervous Activity	634
Galvanic Skin Reflex	635
Blood Clotting	636
Salivation	637

Blood Pressure in Microvessels 637

Noninvasive Measurement of Blood Pressure 638

Conclusions 638

References 639

12 The Bioelectric Events

652

Origin of Bioelectric Events 652

Action Potential 653

Action Potential with Extracellular Electrodes 657

The Interference Theory 658

Electrode Axis Parallel to Excitation 658

The Injury Potential 660

Electrode Axis Perpendicular to Excitation 662

Tissues with a Long Refractory Period 664

Dipole Theory 668

Potential Distribution around Bioelectric Generators 671

The Transmembrane and Extracellular Action Potentials 674

Recording Bioelectric Events 677

Practical Differential Amplifier 683

Isolated Differential Amplifier 684

Electromyography 686

Electrocardiography 693

His-Bundle Electrogram 708

Vector Cardiography 709

Electroencephalography 717

Electrode Locations 717

The Normal EEG 720

Sleep Depth 723

Hyperventilation 724

Anesthesia 725

The Compressed Spectral Array 726

Clinical Value of the EEG 726

Sensory Evoked Potentials 727

Detection of Evoked Cortical Potentials 729

Auditory Evoked Potentials 731

Somatosensory Evoked Potentials 733

Visual Evoked Potentials 735

Clinical Use of Sensory Evoked Potentials 737

Motor Evoked Potentials 739

Electrodermal Phenomena	743
Introduction	743
Skin Resistance Response	746
Current Density	747
Equivalent Circuit	748
Constant-Current Circuit for Resistance Measurement	750
Constant-Voltage Circuit for Conductance Measurement	751
Amplifier Input Impedance	752
Bandwidth Requirements	754
Characteristics of Constant-Current and Constant-Voltage Circuits	754
Skin Potential Response	757
Origin of the Electrodermal Phenomena	759
Electrooculography	760
Electroretinography	767
Magnetography	771
SQUID	773
References	781

13 Radiant Energy Devices

792

Introduction	792
Light-Emitting Diodes	792
Optoelectronics	796
Optical Isolators	796
Blackbody Radiation	799
Color Temperature	801
Units	802
Radiation from the Human Body	802
Gas-Discharge Lamps	803
Biomedical Applications	807
Germicidal Applications	807
Pigment Augmentation	807
Rickets	809
Dermatology	809
Jaundice	809
Ozone	810
Lasers	810
Biomedical Applications	811
Surgery	812

- Dermatology 813
- Miscellaneous Uses 813

X-Rays 814

- Introduction 814
- X-Ray Tubes 815
- Output of the X-Ray Tube 816
- Filtering 818
- Units 819
- Diagnostic Techniques 819
- Film 820
- Grids 821
- Fluoroscopy 823
- Image Intensifier 824
- Computerized Tomography 825

Lithotripsy 828

Diathermy 831

- Introduction 831
- Coupling to the Tissues 832
- Thermal Responses of Tissues 834
- Short-Wave Diathermy 834
  - Perspiration* 837
  - Metal Implant* 837
  - Inductothermy* 838
  - Microwave Diathermy* 842
- Conclusion 847

Electrosurgery 848

- Introduction 848
- Current Waveforms 849
- Tissue Responses 850
- Electrosurgical Current Levels 852
- Dispersive Electrodes 854
  - Skin-Temperature Rise* 856
  - Current-Density Distribution* 858
- Standards for Dispersive Electrodes 858
- Burns under Dispersive Electrodes 860
- Output Circuits 862
- Radiofrequency Interference 865

Tissue Stimulation 867

Pacemakers 872

References 873

14 Ventilation and Ventilators 876

Introduction 876

Body Respirators 876

Chamber (Iron Lung) Respirator 876

Chest (Cuirass) Respirator 878

Rocking Bed Respirator 878

Abdominal Belt Respirator 880

Positive-Pressure Ventilators 880

Mechanical and Electrical Analogs of the Airway 880

Ventilator Operation 883

Pressure-Cycled Ventilator 883

Volume-Cycled Ventilator 885

Time-Cycled Ventilator 887

Flow-Cycled Ventilator 889

Patient-Cycled Ventilator 889

Mixed Cycling 889

Chest Compressors and Ventilators 890

Electrically Induced Inspiration 891

Respiration 893

Phrenic Nerve Stimulation 894

Electroventilation 895

References 899

15 Anesthesia and Anesthesia Equipment 901

General Anesthesia 901

Volatile Anesthetics 902

Depth of Anesthesia 902

Stages and Planes of Anesthesia 904

Anesthesia Monitoring 907

Administration of Anesthesia 909

Anesthesia Machine 910

Closed-Circuit (Circle) Anesthesia Machine 910

Vaporizer 911

Pressure Regulator 914

Conclusion 915

References 915

16 Criteria for the Faithful Reproduction of an Event

917

Analog Systems 917

Introduction 917

Fourier Series 917

Amplitude and Phase Distortion 921

The Step Function 924

Damped Resonant Systems 928

Electrical Analog of Damped Resonant Systems 938

Conclusion 939

Elementary Signal Processing 939

Analog Tape 939

Digital Systems 942

References 946

Index

947